Johnson Defends His Unification Policies

Says He Will Continue Economy

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson declared today that admirals who charge U.S. naval power is being scuttled have built their case on "straw men and false rumors."

Appearing before the House armed services committee, Johnson defended the unified military policies he administers and vowed to continue his economy drive.

The committee rang down the curtain on its investigation of the bitter quarrel in the high command after hearing:

1. Herbert Hoover warn that economies in the armed services and elsewhere in the government are imperative if the country is to remain solvent.
2. Gen. George C. Marshall testify that the cause of the historic struggle was an old story—that it was due to competition among the armed services for available money.

Chairman Vinson, (D-Ga.) of the House committee adjourned the session until Jan. 3, when the committee will try to decide on a way to end the big row.

Denying that he wants to ruin the navy, Johnson assured the committee that the military high command has an "emergency war plan" that has been unanimously approved by the heads of all the armed services.

And there is an "essential and honorable role," Johnson said, for each of the armed forces to fulfill if war comes.

Five-star Gen. Marshall, wartime chief of staff and former secretary of state, told the lawmakers that money is "the root" of all the inter-service squabbling. Every commander wants more money than is available, Marshall said.

Hoover said that after all the "public washing of linen," the time has now come "for peace within the armed services—for morale and for the good of our national defense."

Johnson did not budge an inch in defending his policies—notably his cancellation of the navy's pet $189,000,000 super aircraft carrier, U.S.S. United States—nor did he yield a single point to the admirals.

The big, bald-pated defense chief said he is running the military establishment with the aim of keeping world peace and protecting American taxpayers by squeezing 100 cents worth of defense out of every dollar spent.

The defense department, he said, is now effecting economies at the rate of $598,000,000 a year.

It has set its sights on a $13,000,000 military budget for fiscal 1951, he said, compared with the current $14,400,000,000 budget.

Johnson gave a grinning brush-off to Chairman Vinson's charges that he was making a "grandstand play" as an economizer without taking congress into his confidence.

U. S. Judge Drops Suit Against The Staley Company

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21—(AP)—Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie today dismissed a $15,000 suit against the A. E. Staley Manufacturing company of Decatur.

The suit was brought by Elijah Hill, administrator of the estate of Fred Walter Cheers, St. Louis, Ill., alleged in the suit that Cheers, 30, died after consuming some of the firm's soybean sauce.

E. K. Scheidter, executive vice president of the Staley company, replied "we do not believe that any product of the Staley company was involved in the fatal illness."

Judge Briggie dismissed the suit on the motion of the company on the grounds Cheers' estate failed to furnish security for costs of the proceedings.

Chicago, Oct. 21—(AP)—A 22-year-old former Mattoon, Ill., shoe worker was turned over to Michigan City, Ind., police today on three burglary warrants.

He is Richard Beavers, who was arrested Oct. 19. Sgt. Joseph Newman said Beavers admitted a series of burglaries in Albany, N. Y., Toledo and Cleveland, O.; Detroit, Mich., and Michigan City.

Beavers gave his Mattoon address as 3105 Dewitt street, and said he had served one year and three days in the Illinois State Training School at St. Charles.

ASKS GUATEMALA AID

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—President Truman today announced he is sending Ambassador Richard C. Hill, Patterson, Jr., to Guatemala immediately to offer "every possible assistance" in the Guatemalan flood disaster.

10 Reds Given 5 Years And Fined $10,000

New York, Oct. 21—(AP)—Ten of the 11 top communists in America, branded a menace to their country, were sentenced to prison for five years today and fined $10,000 each.

The 11th, Robert G. Thompson, a decorated Pacific war hero, got off with three years and a $10,000 fine.

The defendants, held without bail since their conviction a week ago today, were returned to jail.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina pronounced the sentences and again refused bail.

Within an hour after court adjourned, notices of appeal from conviction and sentence were filed.

It was the first step in a post-trial legal battle that may finally end before the U. S. supreme court.

The party leaders were convicted of conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government. Their nine-months trial was one of the longest federal criminal cases in history.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohery pleaded for 10 year prison sentences. He said the "potential danger of these men is incalculable."

But Federal Judge Medina held that a change in the Smith Act, under which they were convicted, made five years the limit.

"If it wasn't for this change in the statute," the court said, "I would be thinking in terms of more than five years."

The defendants sentenced to five years were:

Eugene Dennis, 44, general secretary of the Communist party and one of its world leaders;

Henry Winston, 35, negro and organizational secretary;

John Williamson, 46, labor secretary;

Carl Winter, 43, Michigan state chairman;

Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., 46, negro and New York City councilman;

John Gage, 36, editor of the communist newspaper, The Daily Worker;

Gilbert Green, 43, Illinois state chairman;

Irving Potash, 46, vice president of the CIO and Leatrice Worker union;

Gus Hall, 39, Ohio state chairman;

Jacob Suchel, 49, education secretary.

In sentencing Thompson to three years, Judge Medina took into consideration his war record. He won the Distinguished Service Cross as an army sergeant in the Pacific.

Thompson, 34, is the party's New York state chairman.

Expectant Fathers Have More Trouble Than Their Wives

Port Angeles, Wash., Oct. 21—(AP)—You may be slightly confused by this story about expectant father Robert Covault.

But then, so was Covault, who told it this way:

He was waiting on the Fidgeters' bench at the hospital. At home his four-year-old daughter Joan was being cared for by a baby sitter—or so he thought.

Then the nurses came by. They were wheeling the baby sitter into the delivery room. He rubbed his eyes and looked again.

He was right. It was the baby sitter. And she had her own baby, a six pound eight ounce girl.

But, asserted Covault, he wasn't too upset. Mrs. Covault also had a baby, six pound, two ounce daughter who was the aunt of the first baby.

You see, the baby sitter was Mrs. Vern Ireland, the Covaults' eldest daughter.

Little Joan? She managed without a sitter and thought it was a fine arrangement. She had a new sister and had become an aunt on the same day.

Prosecutors Fail To Get FBI Man Into Tucker Trial

Chicago, Oct. 21—(AP)—Prosecutors failed today in efforts to have an unidentified FBI agent testify in the second mail fraud trial of Preston Tucker and seven associates.

Earlier, a witness testified that Tucker had "visions of taking over the Ford Motor company" in his unfulfilled plans for a radically new automobile.

Federal Judge Walter J. LaBuy upheld defense objections to a government proposal to have the FBI agent testify about conversations with Harold Karsten, one of the defendants.

Testimony about the 15 year old criminal record of Karsten, 59, alias Abraham Karatz, formerly of Minneapolis and now of North Hollywood, Calif., caused a first Tucker trial to end in a mistrial order Oct. 10.

Storms Rip Many Parts Of Nation; Report One Dead

By The Associated Press

Twisters ripped into parts of Texas Friday, killing a school teacher and injuring four persons.

Another storm, which has blanketed the Rock Mountains area with snow, moved eastward with decreasing intensity. Snow changed to rain, but temperatures dropped sharply from midsummer levels in parts of the Midwest.

Texas twisters hit at the northern edge of Abilene and near Avery.

At Abilene, the tornado demolished a house, a vacant barracks, several barns and smaller buildings. Power and telephone lines were ripped down. The victim was Mrs. Ruby Lee Pearson, 37. Three members of her family were hurt.

Mrs. Ocie Downs was seriously injured in the Avery twister. The wind destroyed one home and damaged several others.

THIRD VICE PRESIDENT

Chicago, Oct. 21—(AP)—Robert Gray, of the Esso Standard company, New York City, today was elected third vice president of the Audit Bureau of Circulation. All other officers were reelected.

New directors added to the board included Leslie A. Watt, Nat. Morris, Patterson, Jr., to Guatemala immediately to offer "every possible assistance" in the Guatemalan flood disaster.

The electric self-starter for automobiles was invented in Detroit in 1911 by C. F. Kettering.

Chicago, Oct. 21—(AP)—A 22-year-old former Mattoon, Ill., shoe worker was turned over to Michigan City, Ind., police today on three burglary warrants.

He is Richard Beavers, who was arrested Oct. 19. Sgt. Joseph Newman said Beavers admitted a series of burglaries in Albany, N. Y., Toledo and Cleveland, O.; Detroit, Mich., and Michigan City.

U. S. Orders Cut In Coal Burning Railroad Service

By The Associated Press

The government ordered a cut in coal burning railroad passenger service Friday after deadlocked contract talks affecting nearly two-thirds of the strikebound coal industry collapsed.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ordered the reduction effective at midnight, Tuesday, Oct. 25. It will continue in effect two months.

Coal burning passenger locomotives on all railroads in the nation that have a 25 or less days coal supply on hand were ordered to curtail service 25 per cent.

The ICC said railroad coal stocks had reached a "dangerously low level." It added that "an emergency exists requiring immediate action in all sections of the country."

New York Children See Santa Claus Board Airliner

New York, Oct. 21—(AP)—It was a fine day today, with the sun shining brightly and the temperature at 79 degrees.

Two hundred school children, taken to La Guardia Field to see the big airplanes roar in and out, beamed with pleasure as they watched from a second floor observation deck. Suddenly they gaped.

Out from an airport building strode Santa Claus.

Santa waved at the children and they, with considerable bewilderment, waved back. Santa then climbed aboard an airliner and it sailed away into the skies.

The kids are still wondering.

(P.S. to the grown folks—it was Charles Howard, who conducts a Santa Claus school at Albion, N.Y. He was on his way to Kansas City to inspect a department store toyland there.)

Mine Union Leader Criticizes State Coal Purchasing

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21—(AP)—An Illinois mine union leader today criticized state coal buying policies. The state purchasing agents replied they are lawful and "in the best interests" of taxpayers.

President John Marchiondo of the Progressive Mine Workers voiced the complaint in a letter to Governor Stevenson. The governor was in Springfield and his office declined immediate comment.

Marchiondo said the state "discriminated" against mines employing PMW members. He cited a statute providing that state coal contracts shall be put "to secure as nearly as is practicable a fair distribution of employment" to all miners in the state.

The PMW chief said that the state already has taken bids on coal for the coming year and made plans to purchase less than 10 per cent of its requirements from Progressive mines.

U. S. Indicts Russian Trading Corporation

Charged With Not Registering

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—In a new crackdown on Russia, the United States government today obtained an indictment against Amtorg, official Soviet trading corporation, and six of its officers for failure to register as agents of a foreign power.

The maximum penalty for violation of this law is a $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment.

Shortly after Attorney General McGrath announced return of the indictment by a federal grand jury here, five of the Russians were arrested by FBI agents in New York City where Amtorg maintains its offices. The sixth man is in Russia.

Held On $15,000 Bail

The five arrested in New York were taken before a U. S. commissioner who held them in $15,000 bail pending a hearing next Wednesday on their removal to Washington.

This afternoon the acting Russian charge d'affaires, Vladimir I. Bazykin called on Undersecretary Webb at the state department. Seven minutes later the Soviet diplomat strode out, telling reporters he had "no comment" as to whether his visit was to lodge a protest on the case. But government officials indicated that was the purpose of the extra-trial call.

There have been repeated allegations in congress that Amtorg acted as an espionage agency.

The sensational trial of Judith Coplon, government girl convicted last summer of being a spy for Russia, brought out that the justice department was considering prosecuting Amtorg for failure to register as a foreign agent.

Coplon Enters Into Case

Miss Coplon worked in the department's foreign agents registration section. Reference to Amtorg was contained in notes found in her purse when she was arrested in New York City last March with a Russian, Valentine A. Gouzenov, accused with her of espionage conspiracy.

The notes were from a justice department memorandum which a department official placed in her hands as a "decoy." It was testified. She said she was instructed to take notes from it "in connection with the possible prosecution of Amtorg."

The memorandum said that Isidore G. Neideman, general counsel of Amtorg, and another high-placed Amtorg official had become FBI informants. Government witnesses called this deliberately false and designed to catch Miss Coplon's eye.

Miss Coplon was sentenced to serve 40 months to 10 years.

The Amtorg indictment did not allege that the corporation had done anything beyond failure—and refusal on repeated demands—to register under the foreign agents registration act.

The justice department's report said that since Oct. 1, 1946 Amtorg "has collected information for and reported information to the U.S.S.R., and has distributed money for and acted at the order and request and under the direction of the government of the Soviet Union and its government-controlled instrumentalities."

Oregon Surgeons See Rise In Cancer Cures

Chicago, Oct. 21—(AP)—Two Oregon surgeons today envisioned the possibility of increasing the cancer cures from x-ray and radium treatment by lowering a resistance to such rays possessed by some patients in varying degrees.

They emphasized, however, that tests suggesting that possibility are still limited to experimental animals.

Dr. J. B. Graham and R. M. Graham of the University of Oregon medical school told the closing session of the American College of Surgeons' clinical congress in a prepared report.

"The curability of cancer by radiation is determined to a large extent by individual susceptibility or resistance to radiation," they said.

"In animals it is possible to substantially modify the vulnerability to total body radiation by treatment with various agents chemicals before or after radiation."

"It may be possible to modify the response of individuals with cancer so that an increased cure rate results."

Describing research supported by the office of naval research and the atomic energy commission, they said that in mice it was possible on the one hand, to increase resistance to radiation and, on the other hand, to increase sensitivity to it, by the use of various chemicals.

Although the surgeons made no such comment in their report, the fact that they have experimental evidence of an ability to increase, as well as decrease, resistance to radiation seems to justify this speculation.

These studies presumably will be of value to research aimed at prevention or better treatment of "radiation sickness"—a malady that can result from over-exposure to various kinds of rays, including those associated with atomic bombs.

'Glacier Priest' Says Cook Found Pole, Not Peary

Monticello, Ill., Oct. 21—(AP)—The Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard, S. J., known as the "Glacier Priest," said last night the North Pole may not have been discovered by Adm. Robert E. Peary, but by the late Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

Father Hubbard, widely known as an Alaskan explorer in his own right, told a lecture audience here that 300 trips made over the pole in recent years by the U. S. Air Force have confirmed Cook's description of the Polar area "but show nothing to bear out Peary's description."

After both explorers laid claim to the discovery, a controversy existed for years as to who actually found the North Pole. Cook made his trip in April, 1908, and Peary in April, 1909. The priest said Peary's expedition was made under the sponsorship of the National Geographic society.

Most encyclopedias and almanacs list Peary as the discoverer, Father Hubbard declared, because their information was furnished by the society. He asserted the society "suppressed information on Cook's trip."

The society's spokesman was not available immediately for comment.

Two Top Officials Of CIO-EU Sign Non-Commie Oaths

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—Two top officers of the CIO Electrical Workers union who had been listed as communists by a congressional committee gave oaths to the government today that they aren't.

The two were Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer of the United Electrical Workers, and James J. Maties, the UE's director of organization. Non-communist oaths also were submitted to the National Labor Relations Board for US President Albert J. Fitzgerald and the ten UE vice presidents.

This ended the biggest CIO hold-out against Taft-Hartley law rules. Under the labor law a union's officers must file the oaths denying membership in the Communist party or its affiliates, or belief in its objectives, before the labor organization can use the NLRB's union-helping facilities.

Prior failure to file the affidavits, had cost UE big chunks of its membership. It was unable to get on the ballot in collective bargaining elections so other unions, AFL and CIO, were able to grab many UE members.

Claims New World Record Of 69 Lbs. For Muskellunge

Hayward, Wis., Oct. 21—(AP)—Louis Spray, Rice Lake, Wis., tavernkeeper, claimed today to have set a new world muskellunge record for sport fishermen. He said his fish, out of the Chippewa Flowage, weighed 69 pounds, 11 ounces.

If his catch is authenticated it will surpass the record of 67 pounds, eight ounces for a muskie taken July 24 on rod and reel by Cal Johnson, Wisconsin outdoor writer, in Lac Court D'Oreilles.

Spray said he used an 18-inch sucker for bait.

Kills Bear As It Escapes Zoo Cage

Chicago, Oct. 21—(AP)—A keeper shot and killed Mayor Martin Kennedy's bear today as the animal climbed a fence separating it from crowds of children visiting Lincoln Park Zoo.

A screaming woman first sounded the alarm that Elmer had broken out of his cage and was escaping the enclosure.

Zoo Director Marlin Perkins ordered drastic action. Keeper Walter Glade brought the animal down with one shot from a heavy calibre rifle.

Mayor Kennedy won the 150-pound Elmer on a 1949 Rose Bowl football wager with Mayor Elmer E. Robinson of San Francisco.

35 Seamen Saved From Sinking Ship Off British Coast

Fishguard, Wales, Oct. 21—(AP)—Thirty-five sailors trapped aboard a sinking British freighter were rescued tonight by two small merchant ships.

The freighter, the 3,595-ton Cydonia, struck a drifting mine off the west coast of Britain. One sailor was killed by the blast, which tore a ragged hole in the vessel's side.

The nighttime rescue came less than three hours after the Cydonia, which was carrying a S.O.S. at dusk asking immediate help after striking the mine in Cardigan Bay. The two small merchantmen plunged through a storm to reach the stricken freighter.

The vessel was sinking half way between the Welsh and Irish coasts, about 20 miles from the nearest land.

Twenty-one of the Cydonia's crew were rescued by the 4,308-ton Cleary, owned by the South American Steam Line. Radio messages from the scene said the 14 others were taken aboard the Marie-Jensen, described only as a small foreign vessel.

Vishinsky Blasts Conviction Of US Reds As Inhuman

New York, Oct. 21—(AP)—Russia's Andrei V. Vishinsky told the United Nations today the conviction of eleven top American communists was a violation of human rights.

That was his retort to western charges that Soviet satellites in eastern Europe are systematically persecuting people behind their iron curtains.

Vishinsky waved his arms in the 59-nation assembly and shouted that Federal Judge Harold R. Medina kept counsel for the communists defendants from speaking for them. He said Medina succeeded not only in convicting the defendants but in passing sentence on them, lawyers as well.

The attorneys were sentenced to jail for contempt immediately after the convictions and the defendants, with one exception were sentenced today by Judge Medina to five years in prison. The eleven were fined $10,000 each, and the exception, a Pacific war hero, got a three-year sentence.

PLENTY OF APPLES

Johnny Appleseed has been done proud by this year's crop. Too much so, some say, although it is difficult to see how that would be possible.

The country's orchards have put out 130,000,000 bushels of apples, a whopping 41,000,000 more than in 1948, sending department of agriculture emissaries scurrying about the country to promote increased consumption of this ambrosia of all fruits.

Unless normal channels of trade drain off the surplus, warns the production and marketing administration of the department of agriculture, the government will be compelled to buy it up under the market stabilization program. But first, the nation's operators are being urged to dig into the supply.

How successful this missionary work will pan out remains to be seen. In the past, the good old law of supply and demand—now repealed—would have taken care of the crop. But if consumers succeed in eating their way through the crop they will have fewer apples to buy as taxpayers. And tasty apple pie beats apple subsidies any day of the week.

Early Morning Storm Causes Heavy Damage To Nazarene Church

A cyclonic wind early Friday morning almost leveled the new Church of the Nazarene at South Main and Franklin streets, which was nearing completion after several months' work. The north and south concrete block walls of the new structure were toppled over by the terrific gale, causing the rafters and other framework to collapse.

Damage to the new church was estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000 by Rev. S. P. McKay, pastor. The church was scheduled for completion by Nov. 15, but much of the work will now have to be done a second time.

The entire city was buffeted by the wind, which was accompanied by an electrical storm that continued for several hours after midnight. The Nazarene church was damaged about 3:30 o'clock.

Several large trees crashed into streets in the southeast section of the city, carrying down telephone and power wires, and blocking traffic for several hours Friday morning.

Several Trees Go Down
A big tree was felled near Hardin avenue and Henry street, tumbling on telephone wires which were instantly put out of commission. The toll lines between Jacksonville and Springfield were knocked out for several hours.

The Associated Press wires serving the Journal Courier were idle for several hours before repairs were made by emergency line crews.

Clay avenue was closed to traffic in the 1000 block by a tree; Goltz avenue was barricaded in the 700 block, and South East street was cluttered by several large limbs.

The city street department put its entire force to work immediately to clear away the debris and open up traffic.

A driving rain fell for several hours early Friday morning. The loop district where paving operations have been in progress received another soaking, adding to the delay in resuming work.

Officials of the Church of the Nazarene inspected the damage to their new church, and reported that construction would have to begin from the ground up. The building had been ready for roofing when the storm struck.

Boys Arrested To Face Charges Of Thefts At Schools

Three teen-age Jacksonville boys were held in the county jail Friday after they are said to have confessed to entering two public school buildings from which they stole $9.30 in cash and several pocket knives.

The Jefferson and Lafayette grade school buildings were ransacked Tuesday night, the money having been taken from teachers' desks.

Police and the sheriff's office joined in investigating the case and Thursday night the officers placed under arrest Donald Barrows, Russell Kinney and Roland German.

Each admitted, according to State's Attorney Albert Hall, that they participated in ransacking the schools, which they entered through windows.

Statements made by the boys indicated that they later caught a Wabash freight train and rode to Hannibal, Mo. They then attempted a return trip on a freight train, but it was going so fast they could not get off in this city and they were carried on to Springfield. They caught a ride in an automobile back to Jacksonville, where they were picked up by officers.

Warrants charging Kinney and German with petty larceny were sworn out Friday morning. Barrows is on probation and probably will be arraigned as a parole violator.

Ringworm Malady Breaks Out Among Jersey Children

Jerseyville—O. A. Wilson, Jr., principal of the Jerseyville Elementary school, reported that 54 pupils have been restricted from school because of the current epidemic of contagious ringworm. In most of the cases, according to Mr. Wilson, the disease is of the scalp.

Pupils between the first and eighth grades are affected. So far as is known, no cases have been found in the local high school. The infection is apparently confined to younger children and seldom appears in children over 13 or 14 years of age.

The children who have been restricted from school are to remain away until they obtain a doctor's certificate stating that their condition is no longer contagious.

Since a large number of cases have developed here, the State Health Department has made available for use of District 10, an ultra violet lamp with wood filter which is being used by Miss Betty Stanley, district health nurse, to screen the pupils for the detection of the presence of ringworm.

Huge Celebration Honors A.A. Stagg In Football 60 Yrs.

Selinsgrove, Pa., Oct. 21.—(P)—Amos Alonzo Stagg was the center of a huge celebration tonight honoring his 60 years as a college gridiron coach.

"But I'm worrying about tomorrow's game," the 87-year-old "grand old man of football" confided to a reporter.

Stagg's Susquehanna University Crusaders meet Upsala College in the annual homecoming game. In addition, the university has planned a two-day schedule of activities to honor America's oldest coach.

A torchlight parade, pep rally and an old-fashioned collegiate bonfire opened the festivities tonight as hundreds of admirers and well-wishers poured into this central Pennsylvania town of 3,000.

Climax of the program will come tomorrow night, following the game, at a reception and testimonial dinner to which many of the nation's football fraternity have been invited.

Patton Can Be 2nd Eagle To Break Extra Point Record

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—(P)—Cliff Patton can become the second Philadelphia Eagle to break an all-time National Football League record this season if the happy-go-lucky Cherokee can boot three consecutive extra point conversions Sunday.

The Eagles play the Washington Redskins here. Should the game and Patton run true to form there'll be a new name in the NFL record book under consecutive points after touchdown.

Automatic Jack Manders holds the present mark of 72.

Manders was splitting the up-rights with amazing consistency for the Chicago Bears in the years 1933 through 1937. His string of one pointers actually was broken in the third game of the 1937 campaign.

Patton has converted successfully 70 times since his kick after Philadelphia's first touchdown against Pittsburgh on Nov. 30, 1947. He went on to connect with 37 that season; added 59 more without a miss in 1948 and already has made 10 this year.

If Patton gets his record it will be the second NFL mark shattered by an Eagle in 1949. Against Detroit, Steve Van Buren broke the official mark for yards gained in a lifetime by one player. Steve later also topped an unofficial yards claimed record. Steve starts the Redskins game with a current total of 4,068, thirty-seven yards more than Bronko Nagurski's old record.

Pinckneyville, Ill., Oct. 21.—(P)—Sheriff Thomas O'Keefe, who doubles as tax collector, yesterday reported that 99.5 per cent of the total taxes assessed in Perry county have been paid this year. The total paid was $727,443. He said almost 60 cents of each tax dollar was for schools.

Rudolph, Pitching Star Of Braves In 1914, Dies At 62

New York, Oct. 21.—(P)—Dick Rudolph, famous pitching star of the 1914 miracle Boston Braves, died last night—a week after celebrating the 25th anniversary of his greatest mound triumph.

The end came following a heart attack two months after his 62nd birthday. He had been ill a year.

Rudolph ended a 20-year retirement from the game two years ago to become freshman baseball coach at Fordham. A product of New York, he was a student at Fordham in 1905-06.

It was on Oct. 13, 1914, that Rudolph pitched the Braves to a 3-1 World Series victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. Rudolph's triumph, his second in four days over Connie Mack's supposedly super club, enabled the National League champions to sweep all four games from the defending titlholders.

Pitt Travels To Indiana For Tilt

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 21.—(P)—Hilback Lou (Bimbo) Cessoni and Jimmy Joe Robinson will lead a rejuvenated Pittsburgh football team against Indiana tomorrow in an attempt to stretch the Hoosiers' winless string to 12 consecutive games.

The Panthers, unbeaten in four starts this year, will be after their second victory against Indiana teams that have beaten them five times.

Indiana has been crippled all season by injuries. Coach Clyde Smith's sophomore-sprinkled lineup looked good during the first halves, but folded up in the final quarters of the first four games.

Injuries will force Smith to start an untried sophomore, Jim Gamory, at right halfback. And another rookie, Jerry Van Ooye, was listed as probable fullback choice.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, Oct. 21.—(P)—Hog prices dipped mostly 25 cents today to a top of $18.15 for a few loads of choice 225 to 260 pounders. This was equal to Monday's best price, which was the lowest top since OPA ceilings were removed Oct. 15, 1946. Sows were steady to 25 cents off.

Choice steers and heifers practically were absent today. Odd head of choice steers sold up to $35. Choice kinds were quotable fully steady, but common and medium kinds were dull and weak. Cows were about steady. Other cattle and calves were unchanged.

Slaughter lambs were steady, topping at $24.50. Sheep were strong to 25 cents higher.

Salable receipts included 8,500 hogs; 1,500 cattle, 200 calves and 800 sheep.

RETURN BODY OF ACCIDENT VICTIM

West Frankfort, Ill., Oct. 21.—(P)—The body of Charles Gaddis, 35, killed in a Utah mine accident, will be returned here tomorrow for service and burial. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gaddis here was killed Tuesday at Spring Canyon, Utah. They formerly lived at Eldorado.

Westend Eleven Drops 7-6 Tilt At Kincaid

Kincaid—Failure to make an extra point cost Art Yates' ISD Tiger eleven a 7-6 football defeat against the Kincaid Ponies here last night.

Playing on a sloppy field, both clubs were forced to resort to strict line action.

The host Ponies outfit grabbed the opening kickoff and marched to the westend six-yard line from where a Kincaid back carried over. A wide end sweep landed the Ponies on the ISD's ten yard line.

The two elevens battled evenly throughout the third quarter. ISD fought inside Kincaid's 20-yard line in the final chapter, but lost the ball on downs and never again threatened. The game ended with Kincaid trying to push the ball over from ISD's ten yard line.

The loss broke the Tigers' even record of 2-2 and set them on the losing side of a 2-3 seasons record.

Left guard Don Merriman was injured in the early minutes of play. He was replaced by VanSpankeren, a freshman.

Jerseyville Blanks Winchester Eleven 20-0 In Valley Go

Winchester—The Jerseyville Panthers strengthened their hold on first place in the Illinois Valley conference by blanking Winchester's outmanned but game Wildcat crew 20-0 here last night.

Playing on a wet and muddy turf, the league-leading Panthers stuck strictly to the ground. They racked up 16 first downs. Winchester was able to gain only five first downs.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Jerseyites ground out a touchdown in the second, third and fourth periods. Jim Warford tallied the first Panther TD early in the second chapter. Plunge for extra point was good and the visitors led 7-0.

Jim Thurston took his turn at touchdown-making in the third period when he galloped eight yards for the Panthers. Extra point failed. Dale Bridgewater scored for the Jerseyville gang in the fourth quarter with a 45 yard jaunt. He plunged for the extra point to hike the score to 20-0.

They will meet in a 36-hole match starting at 10:30 a.m. (EST) tomorrow.

Miss Berg, the defending champion from Minneapolis, routed Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., 5 and 4, in one semi-final contest this afternoon.

But Miss Bauer, the Los Angeles kid who was runner-up in the recent Texas open, had to go 21 holes to edge the veteran Babe Didrikson Zaharias, one up. Superior putting by the youngster was the big difference, although Mrs. Zaharias extended the match by winning the 18th hole and a 20-foot putt.

The Babe had an unplayable lie in a ditch after her second shot and took a six on the 21st hole, and Miss Bauer closed it out with a five.

Each of today's winners was two under par when she closed out her match.

Third Period Barrage By Feitshans Dumps Crimson Eleven 20-7

After battling through mud and rain to a 7-7 deadlock the first half, Jacksonville's Crimson eleven bogged down in the third quarter and allowed the Feitshans Flyers to bag a pair of touchdowns, paying the way to a 20-7 Central Conference victory for the Springfield club here last night.

The sparse crowd was thinned even more by a peppering rain that started with the ball game. The rain gave way to a cold east wind which whipped across the turf the entire second half making the evening even more miserable for Jacksonville followers.

It was big Maylon Baldwin, Crimson fullback who provided the thrills for the local club. After the visiting Feitshans club had grabbed a 7-0 lead midway through the second quarter and threatened with another as time in the first half shortened, Baldwin intercepted a short Feitshans aerial on his own 20-yard line and galloped 80 yards for the lone Crimson touchdown. Aided by a key block, thrown by Dick Gotchall, Baldwin outran the entire Flyer team.

Jacks Miss Opportunity
The Jacks missed a golden opportunity in the early minutes of play. After Feitshans received the opening kickoff and failed to penetrate a tough Crimson forward wall, they were forced to punt. Jacksonville took over on its 34 yard line. Baldwin and Sabatini packed the mail to the Feitshans 30 yard marker by skirting the ends. A 15-yard penalty on Feitshans set the Crimson on the 15-yard line. The Flyer line toughened up held for four downs and kicked out of danger.

That was the only scoring threat the entire first quarter. However, the initial period ended with Feitshans owning the pigskin on the Crimson 13 yard line.

The two elevens changed directions at the break. On the first play from scrimmage in the second chapter, Flyer Fullback Matlack tossed a screen-pass to his quarterback Ellis who scampered into pay dirt from the 13-yard chalk. Matlack plunged for the extra point and Feitshans led 7-0.

Baldwin Sores For Crimson
With time rapidly running out in the second quarter, the Flyers were again threatening to score. This time Baldwin anticipated the screen pass on his own 20, grabbed the pill and electrified the crowd with his score knotting sprint.

The half ended with the two conference foes locked in a 7-7 stalemate.

The third quarter spelled disaster for Bob Kraushaar's fighting eleven. Flyer Fullback Matlack started packing the ball out of the tricky T formation and ate up huge chunks of yardage. He bulled over from the six-yard line shortly after the stanza got underway. The plunge for extra point failed to give the Flyers a 13-7 advantage.

The Flyers literally flew to another touchdown. Before the Jacks could catch their breath, Aubrey of the Flyers had grabbed a Crimson punt and raced 75 yards for another touchdown. His run was aided by some nifty blocking. A pass, Ellis to Squires, clicked for the extra point, ending all scoring with Feitshans out front 20-7.

Second Conference Loss
It was the second Central conference loss of the season for Jacksonville and the second win for Feitshans.

The final period was marked by short punts and frequent fumbles as the weather cooled, causing stiff fingers.

The Crimson line was outstanding the first half but slowed down considerably after the intermission. The locals played without the services of regulars Ronny Campbell and Ruel Becker.

Feitshans netted 206 yards by rushing while the Crimson weren't far behind with 200. Local backs carried the leather to five first downs the first half and were blanked in that department the second. Feitshans rolled up six first downs the second half and two the first.

Feitshans was also way ahead on penalties, getting set back for 40 yards. Jacksonville was penalized for 25 yards.

Diminutive Sailor Is Fullback For Navy's Grid Squad

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 21.—(P)—Navy's cruising the gridiron this season with a fleet of "light destroyers" in the backfield and the smallest of them will be of all things, fullback, against Penn tomorrow.

Playing the position customarily thought of as reserved for crushing 200-pounders will be diminutive Frank Scolino. He's even smaller than the navy roster credits him, and that's not much.

The programs say Scolino is 5-foot-7. Actually he's an inch shorter and at that height an inch goes a long way. He's also listed as 160 pounds, but it must include 10 pounds of equipment.

Despite this lack of heft, Scolino has worked his way up to where he may start at fullback in Franklin field tomorrow after beginning the season as a Jay-Vee.

The Jersey Skeeter (from Englewood) ran wild against the varsity in a scrimmage for the benefit of sports writers. Coach George Bauer gave him a varsity suit after that but he still was fourth string fullback.

He kept moving up game by game until now he's top kick in a business supposed to be for giants.

LONDONERS ASK SLOW QUESTIONS
London.—(P)—It takes Londoners half-an-hour to ask a question. That, at least, is the experience of experts at the Municipal Information Center at Deptford, a south east London borough. And they should know, they answered more than 4,000 questions during last year.

"People do not ask a specific question, but invariably relate a long story before it can be decided what they really require," they say.

Monotony Gets Britons Down

London—(AP)—A University of Edinburgh expert on nutrition suggested today that 10 years of bitter austerity may be getting the British people down. "The fatigue and lassitude so often complained of in this country," Dr. A. P. Meiklejohn wrote in "The Practitioner," a medical journal, "are much more probably the result of the common monotony and frustration of post-war life than of underfeeding."

"There is no objective reason for thinking that normal people, receiving the average diet available in Britain, are likely to suffer from malnutrition," he said. It's more likely, he added, that people are just tired of eating the same old thing.

MECHANICAL PRUNE KNOCKER TRIED

Davis, Calif.—(AP)—The fruit picker's ladder is beginning to yield to a strange, three-legged, self-propelled tower in California orchards. Developed in cooperation with the State School of Agriculture here, it enables an operator to pick two or three trees at a time, instead of one tree at a time as with an ordinary ladder.

It is now being tried out for knocking prunes off the trees instead of picking them. The tower carries an air-compressor which operates a shaker that jiggles the day-lights out of the tree branches. It also will run a saw or a trimmer or a pruner. In the prune-knocking operation the tower is equipped with shields that windrow the prunes as they fall to the ground. There are plans to fix it so they will drop directly into the boxes.

OSTRICH DISPUTE GOES ON

Johannesburg—(AP)—Do ostriches really bury their heads in the sand at the sign of danger? To settle the age-old custom, two Cape Province athletes flew low over two semi-wild ostriches standing on a sand dune. The lady ostrich buried her head, the male looked up defiantly.

Leading ostrich farmers, however, say this was deceptive. They say the female will always bend down at sign of danger—for camouflage—the long neck and head are hidden and the grey feathers merge with the sand. So the argument is still unsettled.

Rick put his hand over hers. "I could tell you were miserable. But there had to be unpleasantness attached to it, you know. I wonder what Tod thought about the six months' wait for the final decree."

"I imagine he didn't like it," Jenny said.

TOD, in fact, had been stunned by the verdict. He ought to feel happy that the divorce had been granted. He was free. Only, you were never quite free of someone with whom you had lived and shared things as he and Jenny had. Besides there were the boys. His

"I wouldn't have gotten the divorce to begin with if I hadn't thought I was in love with you!"

"Thought!"

"You know I was never able to quit thinking of you, all the time I was married to Jenny," he began uncertainly, "But I was in love with her too in a way. She was good to me and sweet—"

There was a short shocked silence. Liz's face had turned white and her hand trembled as she reached for a fresh cigarette. "I suppose," she said coldly, "that you think it was your native talent; that get you this good job with father."

"Your father, was always interested in me." He didn't mean to sound on the defensive.

"He was interested in you because I begged him to be." Liz cried shrilly. "My father always got me what I wanted. And I wanted you. That was why he hired you. For me! Not because you have any advertising talent!" Her face twisted with contempt.

"You don't have talent for anything. I wonder why I tried so hard to get you?"

TOD began to feel cold all the way through. He picked up his topcoat and hat and went out of the office. He went directly to see Mr. Conover.

Mr. Conover was uneasy but quite frank. He didn't know they had quarreled. "Liz is a funny girl," he said thoughtfully. "She cabled me two years ago while she was on her honeymoon with Jim Courtney, telling me to insist that you take the job we'd planned for you here. I tried to rope you in, not knowing why. When she got back I found out. She was sorry she'd married Courtney. She's a spoiled brat, I know. But I always thought you had a weakness for her, too, so I offered you this job again last spring, so she could have another chance at you. And I guess everything's going to work out, my boy."

He patted Tod's shoulder. "It's all in the family. I'd take my son, if I had one, into the firm whether he had any ability or not. And people do like you, you know."

Tod put on his topcoat. He felt as though the floor had given way beneath him. But before he could leave the office, Liz burst in. She came up to him and slid her arms around his neck, contrition written all over her lovely face.

"I'm sorry, Tod. I'm a perfect beast sometimes," she whispered. (To Be Continued)

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Jenny's marriage to Tod Duncan had never been happy because of her father's. Liz gets Tod a job with her father's firm and there is a change. Jenny finds a house-keeper to take charge of the twin Duncan boys, her sons and Tod's and buys a bit interest in a swank women's clothing establishment. Meanwhile Tod is going to marry Liz, but gets angry when Liz ridicules Jenny. But Liz is able to wrap Tod around her finger. Tod shrinks from the divorce trial, when his marriage to Jenny will be nullified by a court order.

SONS. When they had been infants, he'd not paid too much attention to them. They were more like animals than anything else. He'd been constantly diapered and fed and rocked and bathed. But now they were becoming little people. The past few times he had seen them, he hadn't wanted to say goodbye.

He started for the office. Liz was waiting for him.

"Six months more!" she cried, when he told her about the trial. "That's not fair! Why should a doddering old judge have the power to arrange people's lives like that?"

Tod stood looking out at the traffic moving by in the wet street below. "That's the way it is."

"Surely you can do something, if you've any backbone!" Liz cried.

He hated that note of petulance that was always creeping into her voice. What he needed now was warmth and comfort. He turned away from the windows and tried to take her into his arms. "I would, Liz," he whispered, "if I knew what to do."

"If you knew what to do!" she said fiercely. She shrugged away, picking things up on her desk and slamming them down again. "You could have gone to Reno or Mexico and got a divorce right away!"

Liz crushed out her cigarette and whirled about. "If you were as much in love with me as you claim, you'd have insisted that that judge make the decree final!"

"But if I had made a fuss about it—not that it would have done any good—think how hurt Jenny would have been."

"Jenny! What about me?"

"I wouldn't have gotten the divorce to begin with if I hadn't thought I was in love with you!"

"Thought!"

"You know I was never able to quit thinking of you, all the time I was married to Jenny," he began uncertainly, "But I was in love with her too in a way. She was good to me and sweet—"

There was a short shocked silence. Liz's face had turned white and her hand trembled as she reached for a fresh cigarette. "I suppose," she said coldly, "that you think it was your native talent; that get you this good job with father."

"Your father, was always interested in me." He didn't mean to sound on the defensive.

"He was interested in you because I begged him to be." Liz cried shrilly. "My father always got me what I wanted. And I wanted you. That was why he hired you. For me! Not because you have any advertising talent!" Her face twisted with contempt.

"You don't have talent for anything. I wonder why I tried so hard to get you?"

TOD began to feel cold all the way through. He picked up his topcoat and hat and went out of the office. He went directly to see Mr. Conover.

Mr. Conover was uneasy but quite frank. He didn't know they had quarreled. "Liz is a funny girl," he said thoughtfully. "She cabled me two years ago while she was on her honeymoon with Jim Courtney, telling me to insist that you take the job we'd planned for you here. I tried to rope you in, not knowing why. When she got back I found out. She was sorry she'd married Courtney. She's a spoiled brat, I know. But I always thought you had a weakness for her, too, so I offered you this job again last spring, so she could have another chance at you. And I guess everything's going to work out, my boy."

He patted Tod's shoulder. "It's all in the family. I'd take my son, if I had one, into the firm whether he had any ability or not. And people do like you, you know."

Tod put on his topcoat. He felt as though the floor had given way beneath him. But before he could leave the office, Liz burst in. She came up to him and slid her arms around his neck, contrition written all over her lovely face.

"I'm sorry, Tod. I'm a perfect beast sometimes," she whispered. (To Be Continued)

"Our postwar advertising was too good, J. B.—we asked the customers to be patient, and they're still being patient!"

Two I. C. Grid Stars, Six Others Injured In Crash Last Night

Eight young people, including two stalwarts of the Illinois College football team which will play the Homecoming game this afternoon, were injured at 10:30 p.m. last night in a two-car collision at the intersection of West College avenue and Park avenue.

The two Cooney ambulances rushed the crash victims to Our Saviour's and Passavant hospitals.

Don Longer, end and captain of the Illinois College eleven.

Dave Billings, former Danville grid and cage star, starting halfback on the Blueboy team.

Mrs. Virginia Billings, an employee of I. C.

Ken Gill, I. C. junior and well known I. C. baseball pitcher.

Mrs. Margaret Gill.

Miss Donna Chezem, Danville.

Richard Lacey, 479 S. Mauvais-stre St.

Corla Lee Casselman, 660 S. Prairie street.

The police department said that Longer, driving a Chevrolet sedan, was driving west on West College avenue and was preparing to turn left into Park street. Lacey, driving a Pontiac car, was headed east on West College avenue.

The impact of the crash spun the Longer car directly eastward on West College avenue. The Lacey car careened to the right to strike a telephone pole on the southeast side of the intersection.

Longer was taking Gill and Billings to their homes in the veterans section of the Illinois College campus, just off Park street.

Those in the Longer car were taken to Our Saviour's hospital. Longer suffered bruises and cuts, particularly to the head. Billings was considerably bruised and sustained a cut across one hand, but declared at the McKendree College team this afternoon.

Gill escaped with cuts and bruises. The true extent of the injuries sustained by his wife, Mrs. Billings and Miss Chizum were not completely ascertained early Saturday morning. They were receiving emergency medical attention and X-ray examinations at Our Saviour's hospital.

Passavant hospital attendants were unable to state the exact condition of Lacey and his companion.

Chief of Police Kiloran and Captain Ike Flynn responded to the call. They used the radio to bring in the ambulances. The badly damaged cars were towed to the Brummett garage.

A committee was appointed to contact a sponsoring organization. It was planned to form three troops: The Cub scout for boys between the ages of 8 to 10; the Regular scouts, 11 to 14 years of age and the Explorers, for boys 14 years and up. Three scout leaders are needed.

Holy Cross Sisters Opened Our Saviour's 53 Years Ago

Today Our Saviour's hospital is 53 years old.

Oct. 22, 1896 the Holy Cross Sisters opened its doors to their first patients, three motherless children who had been stricken with typhoid fever.

John, age 14, Mary, 11, and Maggie, 9, according to the original record still on file, were the children of Edward Carrigan of Morgan county. The family physician in charge was Dr. Gillet, young associate of Dr. P. J. Pitner.

Sister Lydia, Sister DeSales, Sister Theodora, Sister Angelus, Sister Joachim, Sister Louis, and Sister Ermin had arrived on Aug. 26, but so many things had to be done that they were not yet ready to receive patients.

Nevertheless they transformed the parlor of the old Yates mansion, which was a part of the building, into a hospital ward. They set up three beds, curtaining off the one for young John.

A Patient Recalls

Mrs. W. R. Cook, 606 South Church street, the Maggie Carrigan of 1896 recalls the details. Sister Ermin was their special nurse. Mrs. Cook remembers her smile. "She'd cure you to open the door," Mrs. Cook says.

Today Sister Ermin is stationed at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, O. The other sisters have died. John Carrigan passed away last July 8. Nancy Carrigan is Mrs. John H. Hicks, 415 North Fayette street.

The old Yates mansion, which cradled the new hospital, already had a record of distinction.

In 1847 Richard Yates, the future Civil War governor built this home for his attractive 17-year-old bride, the former Catherine Geers. In it was born the second Richard Yates, who, like his father, was to become governor of Illinois.

Dominican Motherhouse

Years later the fine old home was the motherhouse of the Dominican Sisters from Kentucky, and it cradled St. Rose's Academy. For a while it was the rectory of Our Saviour's parish and the headquarters of the Rott club.

Finally two circumstances led to its becoming a hospital: a legacy of $12,800 left by Charles Rott for the founding of a Sisters' hospital and the appeal of a group of physicians to Father John Crowe to have that hospital realized at once.

As far as surgery was concerned, Passavant was a one-man hospital at the time, and many of the doctors had no place to take their patients, except the few unsatisfactory makeshift hospitals which some of them were trying to operate.

The physicians who appealed to Father Crowe were Drs. Adams, length the limitations of air power against the kind of warfare at which the Russians are proficient and stated that warfare of any kind, however destructive, would be indecisive and for that reason we must aim at a settlement with the Soviet government and its allies.

That settlement must aim to make freedom and democracy where they now exist more secure. It must aim by negotiation — which means by compromise, inducement, and by pressure to terminate the military partition of Europe. But these aims can be achieved only by recognizing the vital interest of Russia as well as the vital interests of our friends and of ourselves, and of admitting that the world will have to be big enough to let differing systems of life and of government exist side by side. If we attempt more than that we shall bring destruction upon ourselves and upon the world.

Lula Belle Davis, Fayette Woman, Dies Suddenly

Greenfield—Mrs. Lula Belle Davis of Fayette died suddenly at 2 p.m. Friday while visiting at the home of her son, Russell Davis, of Plaquemine, although she was under a doctor's care, her death was unexpected.

Mrs. Davis was born Jan. 7, 1879 on a farm northeast of Greenfield, the daughter of Philip Kramer and Minnie Warner. On April 23, 1903 she married Rollin R. Davis, who survives her. Her two sons, Russell of Plaquemine and William of Alton, and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Frazer of Wood River, are also still living, as are her ten grandchildren, one great-grandchild and two brothers, Henry Kramer of Carrollville and Philip Kramer of Peoria.

She was an active member of the Fayette Baptist church.

The body is at the Shields Funeral Home in Greenfield; it will be returned to the family home in Fayette on Saturday morning. The funeral is to be at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Fayette Baptist church, and burial will be in Oakwood cemetery at Greenfield, with Rev. Frank Crouch of Carrollville officiating.

Final Rites For M. Heffernen Are Held Friday

Final rites for Michael D. Heffernen were held Friday at 8:30 a.m. at the Church of Our Saviour. Requiem high Mass was celebrated by Rev. Dean F. F. Formaz.

The casket bearers were J. J. Wall, Paul Devlin, Ben McCarthy, Tom Begnel, Dan Bahaan, Frank Clancy, Frank Kiloran and Jerry Ring.
